Three out of four persons in good or very good health, chronic diseases are nevertheless widespread

Vienna, 2020-10-19 – 75% of the Austrian population aged 15 years and older are satisfied with their general health status, rating it as very good or good. At the same time, two thirds of the population stated to have at least one chronic disease. These are two main facts of the "Austrian Health Interview Survey 2019", carried out by Statistics Austria on behalf of the Ministry of Health and the Federal Health Agency.
